Is the Internet “making us stupid”

Pros

With the speed of the internet it is different from previous tech, and reprogramming are brains for the worse

- The Internet has reduced are ability to focus and is changing how are memory functions and promoted not comprehending reading.
- A study found that people who read more digital text and skim over it retain less information than people reading on paper text
- To connect it to the previous one reading without comprehending with people skimming over digital text leads to lower ELA scores.

IQ scores after decades on the rise are starting to drop on sync with the internet coming to rise.

- IQ scores are dropping due to environmental cause such as the internet
- The internet also gives us a false feeling that we can multitask which scientists found that humans can not truly multitask
- Sictiensts also found that are functional IQ drops by 10 when we try multitasking or are distracted by the internet. The loss of that much IQ points is more than the loss of sleep one night and more than double of that smoking marijuana

The internet can promote false information

Cons

New technologies have been feared before, the fear of the internet fear will just wear out and those fears that used to be turned out to be false.

- People where scared of the train thinking going at such high speeds that they would melt this turned out to be false
- Another thing that people thought was that schools would wear out students brains, that also turned out to be false.
- People also thought that TV's were going to radio, reading, and family life. The fears of the internet will just wear out

The internet gives diverse populations of people more equal accesses to information and what's going on it the world.

- For people with the internet it is an amazing tool. It is an enormously powerful tool, has provided accesses to things we have never seen or experienced before.
- Social Media offers ways of communication for people to interact with people around the world and with people with disabilities to interact with their family who lives far away
- The internet can also help senior citizens with the life by helping them with tasks if they don't have anybody to help them.

The internet can help senior citizens with their everyday life

Concluding Argument

The internees is making us stupid, I think this mainly because of Pro 2 and that the IQ score shave been dropping for ages.
